EXPLORER PAYS HIGH TRIBUTE TO SYERDRUP

Capt. Roald Amundsen, After Two Days in Capital, Leaves for Western Tour.

Western Tour.

Capt. Reaid Amusdaen left Washington yesterday for New York. Before leaving he paid a high tribute to Otto Sverdrup, the Norwegian explorer, who is supposed to be lest in Greenland.

"He is a brase man," referring to Sverdrup, said Capt, Amindsen. "He

"The lack of knowledge regarding Sverdrup males me hesitate to express any opinion as to whether he will return to civilization."

Capt. Aroundset will return in the United States for about six months, during which time he will fill lecture engagements. It is possible that he will resturn to Washington in May.

Roar Admiral Peary, discoverer of the South Pole, said yearday that he favored an expedition to the South Pole and into the regions around it. He believes valuable scientific discoveries can be made in those regions. He says he will make he more polar expeditions, but topes that the I visited States will commission some capable man to make such
